ABRAMS COMICARTS TO PUBLISH THE FIRST GRAPHIC NOVEL
ADAPTATION OF FRANK HERBERT'S DUNE, BY HIS SON BRIAN
HERBERT AND KEVIN J. ANDERSON,
TO BE ILLUSTRATED BY RAÚL ALLÉN AND PATRICIA MARTÍN, WITH COVERS BY BILL SIENKIEWICZ

New York, NY – October 2019 – Andrew Smith, Senior Vice President and Publisher of Abrams ComicArts, announced today the forthcoming graphic novel adaptation of Frank Herbert's science-fiction masterpiece Dune, which will be adapted by Brian Herbert and Kevin J. Anderson and illustrated by Raúl Allén and Patricia Martín. The deal for three books, including world rights, was negotiated by Smith and Charles Kochman, Editorial Director of Abrams ComicArts, with John Silbersack of Trident Media Group and Mary Alice Kier of Cine/Lit Representation. Kochman will be coediting the graphic novels with Charlotte Greenbaum, Editor. The original novel will be adapted into three parts, the first of which will publish October 2020 in hardcover and e-book editions with a 100,000 copy print run. Comics legend Bill Sienkiewicz will create the series logo and a triptych of original art across all three covers.

Brian Herbert says, "I am pleased to present this faithful graphic novel adaptation of my father's masterpiece. This is the first time Dune has ever been published in this format and will introduce many new readers to Frank Herbert's fantastic universe."

Kevin J. Anderson adds, "The most exciting part for me is that this is a definitive, scene-for-scene adaptation of Dune, faithful to the story as Frank Herbert wrote it, but brought to a visual form. This will be the true graphic novel version of Dune."

Dune was first published in 1965 and won the Nebula Award, shared the Hugo Award, and formed the basis of what is undoubtedly considered the grandest epic in science fiction. It will also be the subject of a new film coming out in 2020. Frank Herbert's epic masterpiece is set in the far future amid a sprawling feudal interstellar society and tells the story of Paul Atreides as he and his family accept control of the desert planet Arrakis, the only source of spice, the most important and valuable substance in the cosmos. Faithfully adapted as a graphic novel by Brian Herbert, son of Frank Herbert, and Kevin J. Anderson, both of whom are New York Times bestselling authors, Dune explores the complex, multilayered interactions of politics, religion, ecology, technology, and human emotion as the forces of the empire confront each other for control of Arrakis.

"It is an honor to add the graphic novel adaptation of Dune to the Abrams ComicArts list," says Kochman. "Dune has been acknowledged as the inspiration for Star Wars and Game of Thrones and is even more relevant today than when it was first published, presaging the effects of global warming, water shortages, and increased political upheavals in the Middle East. We are excited by the opportunity to work with Brian Herbert and Kevin J. Anderson, taking this seminal work by Frank Herbert and introducing it to a new generation of readers."

A multifaceted marketing and publicity campaign for Dune: The Graphic Novel is planned, including major print and digital advertising campaigns, strong retail promotion across all channels, and a national author tour.
