MEGASCOPE LAUNCHES HIGHLY ANTICIPATED FIRST PUBLISHING LIST FROM CURATOR JOHN JENNINGS

The official Megascope logo and advisory board, featuring celebrated voices in the academic and literary world, is also established

New York, NY – February 2020 – The celebrated imprint Abrams ComicArts is launching its first publishing list from Megascope, the new line of graphic novels curated by John Jennings. Jennings is an award-winning and New York Times bestselling comics creator and illustrator of graphic novel adaptations of Octavia E. Butler’s Kindred and Parable of the Sower. Megascope was first announced in 2018, and the inaugural publishing list will have two titles: After the Rain (October 27, 2020; Hardcover) by Nnedi Okorafor, adapted by John Jennings and illustrated by David Brame, and The Heavy (January 19, 2021; Hardcover) by Shawn Martinbrough.

“When W.E.B. DuBois created the idea of the megascope in the short story The Princess Steel (1909), I wonder if he would ever have dreamed that he was giving us a gift of not just one future but myriad futures. The megascope functions as a lens through which so many unheard voices can be heard. I am so honored and excited to present this first slate of books that we have lovingly curated. It’s a very robust, diverse, extraordinary collection of narratives that, I hope, will foster conversation, celebration, and connection,” says Jennings. “The book is an empathy machine and ABRAMS has dedicated so much of its existence to making cutting-edge, well-designed, beautiful books for everyone. I am humbled by the talent and dedication that Abrams ComicArts has poured into this line of books. My hope is that our audience will see themselves and their commonalities with others in these graphic messages from the minds and hands of some of the most amazing creators working in graphic fiction today.”
After the Rain is a graphic novel adaptation of award-winning author Nnedi Okorafor’s short story “On the Road,” a supernatural drama that takes place in a small Nigerian town during a violent storm. Okorafor ranks among the most acclaimed speculative-fiction authors currently writing—she is the recipient of the Hugo, Nebula, World Fantasy, and Locus Awards. John Jennings and David Brame’s graphic novel collaboration uses bold art and colors to powerfully tell this tale of African diaspora, identity, and destiny, bringing the story to life for Okorafor fans and new readers alike.

In The Heavy, acclaimed writer-illustrator Shawn Martinbrough tells the hard-hitting story of Charles “Dukes” Duchamps, a New York-based debt collector with a love for jazz and a loss that has haunted him for years. Martinbrough is a critically acclaimed creator whose projects for DC Comics, Marvel Comics, Dark Horse Comics, and Image Comics include Batman: Detective Comics, Luke Cage Noir, Black Panther, Hellboy, and Thief of Thieves. Martinbrough has also cocreated characters featured in the films Deadpool and Justice League. The Heavy is an original contemporary noir-themed graphic novel about rivals, revenge, and redemption.

In addition to the first list of books, Megascope has also revealed its new logo and its official advisory board. The board members are some the most celebrated scholars and comics professionals in media, literature, comics studies, and other related fields. The advisory board’s duties are to help recommend relevant narratives for adaptation, help design educational supplements, recommend new comics creators, and to make sure the Megascope line stays true to standards of appropriate representation of ideas and characters relative to the parameters of the graphic novels.

Megascope Advisory Board:

Frederick Luis Aldama, PhD—The Ohio State University and SOL-CON
Kinitra Brooks, PhD—Michigan State University
Stanford Carpenter, PhD—Black & Brown Comix Arts Festival and Pocket Con
