ABRAMS PRESS ACQUIRES
BUBBLEBALL
BY THE WASHINGTON POST'S NATIONAL NBA WRITER, BEN GOLLIVER

New York, New York – August 18, 2020 – Abrams Press announces the May 2021 publication of BUBBLEBALL by national NBA writer for The Washington Post Ben Golliver. Abrams Press Editorial Director Jamison Stoltz acquired world rights in the project from Ben Golliver's literary agent, Tim Wojcik of Levine Greenberg Rostan Literary Agency.

Ben Golliver is one of the very few journalists currently reporting from inside the NBA's restricted "bubble" in Disney World, the league's solution to the COVID-19 pandemic, granting him exclusive access to players and courtside seats to every game. BUBBLEBALL will take readers inside and offer a unique and captivating chronicle of the battle for the 2019-20 championship.

"Basketball fans will look back on 2020 as one of the most pivotal years in NBA history," Golliver said. "After months of uncertainty and debate, the NBA concluded that a bubble was its best shot to crown a champion and avoid the financial catastrophe of a lost postseason. Against that complex backdrop, BUBBLEBALL will explore a fierce title chase and illuminate the many quirks of my life inside the bubble."

Ben Golliver is the national NBA writer for The Washington Post. He is also the cohost of Sports Illustrated's Open Floor NBA podcast, the cohost of the independent Greatest of All Talk NBA podcast, and a weekly guest on the Locked On NBA podcast. BUBBLEBALL is Golliver's first book.
